Monthly Fund Review

Investment Objective

The Fund will attempt to achieve over the long term a total return in excess of that of the MSCI Emerging Markets Index (with net dividends reinvested) through investment in a concentrated portfolio of equities of companies from emerging markets and from other markets where it can be demonstrated by the Investment Manager that the company concerned is overwhelmingly an emerging market related company. The approach is focussed on valuations and bottom-up fundamental research of individual companies.

The value of all investments and the income from them can go down as well as up; this may be due, in part, to exchange rate fluctuations. Past performance is not a guide to future performance.

Fund Manager Commentary

The valuation case for emerging market equities remains attractive, with the MSCI Emerging Markets Index trading comfortably below its longer term historic average valuation. The price to book ratio for the index is 1.5. The weighted average of the price targets in the portfolio is showing an attractive 48% upside as we approach the end of the year.

The bottom performers by contribution in the month were Petrobras and Ternium. Petrobras (Brazilian oil producer) had a decent set of results for the third quarter, but the sustained downward move in the oil price overcame the positives. Ahead of the new Brazilian government taking power the share price could be volatile, but we believe that Petrobras will retain its strategy independence and continues to be headed in the right direction. It trades on a price to earnings ratio of 9 and a price to book ratio of 1.1. Ternium (Latin American steel producer) saw its share price weaken as its Chairman was included in an investigation into alleged payments made by Ternium's controlling shareholder to Argentine government officials in 2008 to assist in getting compensation from the Venezuelan government that had expropriated Ternium's steel assets in that country. It trades on a price to earnings ratio of 7 and a price to book ratio of 1.2.

The top performers by contribution in the month were SK Telecom and Indofood. SK Telecom (South Korean mobile telecom provider) has exited a difficult period of regulatory pressure for the industry, competition is subdued, and 5G adoption a longer term positive. Its stake in SK Hynix (second largest DRAM producer globally) continues to trade around expectations for the semiconductor cycle, but we feel the worst case is already priced in. SK Telecom trades on a price to earnings ratio of 7.5 and a price to book ratio of 1.1. Indofood (Indonesian snack food manufacturer) had third quarter results showing the continued strong performance of its noodle business, the weak performance of its agribusiness, and impact of a weaker local currency. It trades on a price to earnings ratio of 14 and a price to book ratio of 1.9.

Top Glove (Malaysian rubber glove producer) had reached price target and was sold in the month. It had re-rated strongly since purchase reflecting the long-term growth in demand for latex gloves in the developing world and steady demand increases from the developed world led by increased regulation in safety and hygiene. Top Glove is the largest producer globally of latex gloves and this afforded it economies of scale in a commodity business. More recently management had sought to move further into higher margin niche areas such as surgical gloves. Investors have strongly re-rated the stock over the last twelve months with the share price doubling in that period.

Following the sale of Top Glove we have around 7% of the portfolio in cash, which is towards the higher end of our historic cash weighting, and we are looking to reduce this in the near term.
